Man dies at scene after bus collision

BY PHILIP MCELENEY AND JESSICA DUNCAN
editor@onemk.co.uk

A YOUNG man died on Monday after he was hit by a bus in the city centre.

Anthony Dillow, who is believed to be in his 20s, was pronounced dead at the scene near The Point. An inquest into his death is set to open this week.

A large area around The Point was cordoned off with the surrounding roads closed for several hours and buses diverted as emergency services – including the air ambulance – rushed to the scene.

There were many shocked bystanders but just as many seemed more concerned about what it would mean for their journey home.

One bystander was overheard asking 'has someone died? Ow, well when are the buses going to start again?'

And Thames Valley Police has urged people to think twice about what they do with any video or photos they took.

Sergeant Simon Hills, from Roads Police based in Milton Keynes, said: "We are in contact with the man's family and supporting them through this difficult time."

"I would like to thank the public for their patience and understanding as we worked at the scene, but I would urge anyone who filmed the injured man as he was being treated to carefully consider what they do with the footage especially in relation to social media and sharing of files to avoid unnecessary upset to the family."

Police have asked for anyone with information on the incident to call them on 101 quoting reference

Tragedy: Emergency services were called to the scene close to The Point with the area cordoned off and roads closed number URN 493 9/5.

Sgt Hills added: "I would like to appeal for anybody who saw the collision between the pedestrian and the bus to come forward as they may have information which can help us as we piece together the tragic events from [Monday] morning."

South Central Ambulance Service sent two ambulances, an officer and an air ambulance – which landed in Campbell Park – to the incident.

Several police officers were also there. The bus driver was treated at the scene for shock.

Arriva confirmed one of its drivers was involved and said it would work closely with emergency services to investigate the matter further.

A Stunning Difference That You Can See And Feel

Before

Problem

The conservatory was too cold in the winter, meaning it has to be locked up over the cold months.

The conservatory was far too hot in the summer, making it impossible to stay in for more than a few minutes.

Heavy rain hitting the old panels caused unbearably loud noises during rainy weather spells.

On sunny days the sunlight would break through the thin panels, causing bright glare on the screens of electronic devices.

Mould and mildew had formed on the panels near the roof beams, needing to be regularly removed to avoid an unsightly view.

After

Solved

The conservatory now stays the same temperature as the rest of the house in the cold, making it perfect for a large family Christmas.

The conservatory now never goes above 24 degrees, keeping it nice and cool for children to play in during the summer.

A soundproof barrier now keeps the conservatory free from external noise, making it perfect for quiet relaxation, whatever the weather.

The new solid roof completely removes glare, while a white plaster or cladded ceiling still keeps the room bright for activities such as reading.

The Comfortable Tiled Conservatory Roof requires almost no maintenance allowing you to enjoy your conservatory with minimal effort.

Based On Your Score, Your Comfortable Prescription

0-24 Your conservatory is exhibiting little to no issues. It's possible that you already have one of our many options. If not, however, there's no harm in making a long term investment now to protect your conservatory in the future.

25-49 Your conservatory is starting to show it's flaws. We'd recommend looking into our insulated ceiling options. The insulated ceiling is a low cost, efficient solution to many common issues with existing conservatories.

50-74 Your conservatory is fairly problematic but we believe that a Comfortable Tiled Conservatory Roof will solve all of your problems. Our bespoke roofs fit on almost any existing conservatory and enhance it in countless ways.

75+ Your conservatory is barely usable, or possibly not usable at all, but we have the perfect solution. A full upgrade will strip your conservatory down to the base brickwork and replace all the frames, the roof, doors, and sealed units, making the structure as good as new.

Plans: The proposed development on the site of Midsummer Boulevard will include the city's tallest building

New plan for city's skyline

BY CHRIS KNIGHT

chris.knight@onemk.co.uk

THE city's tallest building will boast a skyline restaurant, apartments for rent and shops – if plans are approved.

Sterling Property Ventures has been selected by Milton Keynes Development Partnership (MKDP) as its preferred development partner for the major new scheme on the 1.5 acre site of Midsummer Boulevard.

The project will also house Grade A office space and amenities.

Charles Macdonald, chief executive of MKDP, said: "Sterling's development activity in Birmingham provides a thrilling insight into what could be delivered in Milton Keynes and we welcome the opportunity to work closely with them to deliver an outstanding scheme."

The development site, known as B3.3N, fronts onto Midsummer Boulevard, between the Pinnacle and Witan Gate House.

London-based architectural practice Doone Silver Architects has been appointed lead architect on the scheme.

Its director John Silver said: "As a distinctive addition to the skyline, it will signal a new era of development for the city."

Stakeholder engagement has already begun and Sterling and MKDP will be seeking input from the public during the summer.

Subject to the feedback from the consultation, it is anticipated that plans will be submitted to Milton Keynes Council later this year.

■ You can see readers' reactions to the news of the proposal in Yourviews on page 6.

Murder charge against partner

Appeal: Forensics examine Natalie Hemming's, pictured, home after she was reported missing

BY PHILIP MCELENEY
AND SCOTT KIRK

editor@onemk.co.uk

THERE are fears missing mum-of-three Natalie Hemming is dead, after her partner was charged with her murder.

Police launched an urgent appeal last week after Natalie, 31, from Newton Leys, was reported missing on Tuesday, May 3 by her mum and a friend after last being seen on Sunday, May 1 in Hemel Hempstead.

Her partner Paul Hemming, 42, appeared at Milton Keynes Magistrates' Court on Saturday and at Luton Crown Court on Monday.

Mr Hemming, who was arrested last Wednesday, was remanded in custody on Monday with a plea hearing set for July 11.

The search for Natalie, who is white, 5ft 1, slim, with shoulder-length brown hair and blue eyes, is continuing.

Forensics visited her Newton Leys home last week and at the weekend and a guard was posted outside the house.

Thames Valley Police is trying to trace the movements of a black Ford S Max – registration EJ12 UWG – between 9.45pm on May 1 into the early hours of Bank Holiday

Monday. The car, which police have in their possession, travelled towards Aylesbury on the A413, then south of Aylesbury on the A41 and back towards Milton Keynes on the A418.

Neighbours have spoken of their shock, with Steve Marran, who only moved to Newton Leys last week, saying: "We have come up from Hertfordshire and we've bought a house.

"It's such a shame. We obviously looked around the area before we came up and found it really nice and friendly so we chose this house and now we're wondering why all these police officers are here."

Appeal case thrown out

A JEALOUS boyfriend who attacked a love rival with a knife while he slept has had his appeal against his jail term rejected by top judges.

Kristian John Smith, 41, of Caraway Close, Walnut Tree, strayed into his victim's home in Silbury Boulevard and straddled his chest while he was asleep.

Smith then rained down punches on the terrified man before interrogating him about suspected relations with his girlfriend, while holding a knife to his eye.

He was jailed for three years in January after pleading guilty to assault occasioning actual bodily harm.

But Smith told judges at London's Criminal Appeal Court he had been treated too harshly.

Mr Justice Baker threw out his challenge, commenting on Smith's eight previous convictions for threatening behaviour.

Dog walker stuck in mud

A WOMAN had to be rescued by firefighters after she got stuck in mud in a field while she was out walking her dog.

They came to help the stricken dog walker in Tattenhoe Street in Grange Farm at 9.08am on Sunday.

Firefighters used a longboard to get her out of the mud.

Crews from Great Holm and Bletchley were called to the scene.

The Water Rescue Unit from Newport Pagnell also attended the incident.

Fire correction

BUCKINGHAMSHIRE Fire and Rescue Service would like to correct a statement about a particularly sensitive salvage operation that it issued in response to one of the many enquiries it received in the aftermath of the fire in Stony Stratford High Street on May 1 and to apologise for the original error.

Firefighters removed urns containing cremated ashes from the premises of a funeral director and a cabinet containing important information, but the salvage operation did not as previously stated extend to the chapel of rest as this was situated well away from the fire and was not affected by it.

Capturing historic scene

TO THE lady in Stony Stratford High Street last Tuesday morning.

You walked past me while I was making a record of such a dramatic and devastating scene and said 'how disgusting!'

I assume, as you walked away and didn't confront me directly, that you meant it was 'disgusting' to be taking photos of such a tragic scene.

Well my fellow Stony resident, you may have found that if you walk past that scene regularly and at any time of day that someone will be taking a photo of it.

It's a record of something so dramatic, that you would hope you would never see again in your lifetime, so much so that you may want to share the event with your children and grandchildren one day and say 'I lived here when this happened'.

I was making a record for my own personal use. Yes if someone had died, then I'd agree it would be disrespectful to take pictures, however, no-one was hurt.

I ask you fellow resident, when you got home this evening, after walking past other on-lookers, curious residents, workers and record makers like myself taking photos, did you say 'how disgusting!' to them? And when you opened your copy of OneMK and saw the remarkable scene on the front page?

Thank you for dampening my day from your off the cuff remark aimed indirectly at me.

Thank you OneMK for putting

Iain has created a buzz

BEING a politician, I'm sure can be a thankless job; it's not for the fainthearted.

I've contacted MPs before to raise particular issues, to which I have received 'high touch' automated responses and that's why I wanted to say a public thank you to the MP Iain Stewart.

Thanks for listening Iain about our bees, being worried about our bees and wanting to protect our bees in the home counties and nationally...wherever those busy bees may go.

It's a serious issue for future generations that can be dismissed as 'another enviro cause' but any chemical that causes such a significant decline in our bee population is not good for anyone.

I've been loving the arrival of spring and really noticing our big furry, friendly, humming treasures whizz by and now, I'm loving the fact that I think Iain likes seeing them too. He is prepared to advise the Government on our behalf to give these furries and us a chance by keeping this pesticide ban as it is, how it should be – a ban, until companies find a safer way to protect our crops and counties.

It's just the first step, but thanks for listening Iain.

Your views on our website and Facebook page on plans for MK's tallest buildings

/OneMKNews

FreddyMK: "I am saddened and in despair. We must stop these huge monstrosities going up in MK. When I moved here over 20 years ago I was told that the height of new buildings must not be taller than the tallest tree. That policy has gone and now we have too many ugly buildings destroying the character of MK."

DaveD: "What an ugly building, overshadowing and stealing light from other buildings in the area, which are smaller because they fit in with the original vision for Milton Keynes – ie no big ugly tall buildings dominating the skyline."

BartonG: "Milton Keynes has always aspired to be a 'city of the future', but in recent years, The Hub and now this image of the proposal from the Development Partnership demonstrate a total lack of vision for our city centre. If we are, for the first time ever, to allow a developer to build a high rise tower in the centre, we should insist that the design reflects our identity as a city – innovative, forward-looking, cutting edge. Not these utterly mundane, non-descript glass and metal boxes that might have passed for 'modern' 25 years ago."

Emma Brookes: "I do like the idea of a high public viewpoint. It's hard to get a sense of how beautiful the centre is sometimes. When I visit other places, I always want to get a high-up view. In MK you only get them if you're in an office building."

Jay Isiania: "If the architecture is right, then I'm up for it, not like the awful Hub...big mistake on design. It would be great if we had Dubai, Singapore-style quality buildings in CMK. They must have underground car parking for each new building for workers and residents."

Sara Stokes Cawte: "As a true Milton Keynesian, this news actually makes me quite sad. Please don't make MK like every other town and city. Improve the roads and transport and keep the fire stations, police stations and hospitals open instead."

Jon Boyle: "The original developers of Milton Keynes will be turning in their graves. MK is not London, nor do we want it to be."

Andy Ward: "One of the most developing modern towns around and it's like a village mentality 'ooo change, we don't like change'... BRING IT!"

Ruth Campbell: "I'm probably one of the few that think this is a good idea. How exciting if Milton Keynes becomes like a mini New York. We were never going to stay a small village and now need to embrace the change to make this a hub for the rest of the UK and one that people stop poking fun at!"

Hayley Evans: "If I wanted high rises I'd live in London, stop destroying what makes Milton Keynes nice."

His column written exclusively for OneMK

I'M YET to meet anyone who thinks The Hub is a good development.

Ugly buildings, no parking and the most recent kick in the teeth when the hotel was downgraded to a Travelodge.

Frequently dismissed as an unsightly 70s throwback, its bland concrete courtyard seems forever to be howling with wind as people hurry through.

You'd think the city planners would have learned a lesson.

But no. Sterling Property Ventures has submitted artist impressions of two oblong glass tower blocks that will be the tallest (and by the look of things, ugliest) buildings in CMK. With promises of 'skyline restaurants with fantastic vistas', we all know that we'll get another Nando's and Pizza Express on the top floor and a Starbucks and Costa at street level.

It's hardly The Shard, or The Gherkin. You're not fooling anyone. Another ugly building, a bit taller than all the others, with 'apartments' and limited parking. Sound familiar? Have a look at The Gables in Wolverton and Melrose Avenue in Bletchley. They seemed like a good idea too.

Duchess views palace's Magic Garden

MILTON Keynes' Frosts Landscapes was behind the complete build of the incredible Hampton Court Palace Magic Garden, which was enjoyed by The Duchess of Cambridge last Wednesday.

The new garden, located in Henry VIII's former tiltyard where Tudor jousting tournaments took place, brings together the palace's rich history and mythology with fun playground structures.

Ken White, managing director at Frosts Landscapes based in Woburn Sands, said: "This has been an incredible project to work on and to finally be able to share the Magic Garden with the public is a real joy.

"The garden will become an iconic part of London and as the plants mature, the garden's landscape design will fully blossom into a stunning setting for children's adventure and imagination."

Order puts stop to harassment

BY SCOTT KIRK
scott.kirk@onemk.co.uk

A MAN has been banned from conducting behaviour that would harass or cause a nuisance to women in Milton Keynes.

Davinder Mehmi, pictured, 42, of Granby Court, Granby, was handed an Injunction Order under the Anti-Social Behaviour, Crime and Police Act 2014.

On numerous occasions Mehmi approached women in Milton Keynes and attempted to engage them in conversation. After making this approach, he turned the conversation towards a sexual nature, making the women feel uncomfortable and distressed.

PC Dave Goodwin, Milton

Keynes' Anti-Social Behaviour Officer, said: "Mehmi has been approaching mainly young women for a number of years and behaving in this manner. About 18 months ago officers identified a series of incidents at the MK1 retail park. He approached several women in different shops."

He added that none of the victims knew each other.

The order was granted on Monday, April 18 at Oxford County Court.

Linda Ellen, head of housing at Milton Keynes Council, said: "We are really pleased with the result."

Water warnings are still ignored

Danger: People are still swimming in the Blue Lagoon despite two people drowning there in 2014

BY PHILIP MCELENEY AND SCOTT KIRK

editor@onemk.co.uk

PEOPLE were still swimming in the Blue Lagoon at the weekend, despite a warning urging them not to due to the danger of drowning.

Two people died in the water in Bletchley in 2014 and SaferMK has now called on people to heed the advice offered by the Royal Life Saving Society, which highlights the dangers of swimming in places such as canals, rivers and lakes.

But a small minority of people still risked a dip in the water on Sunday, despite warning signs saying that they should do exactly the opposite of that.

Colin Wilderspin, head of SaferMK for Milton Keynes Council, said: "We are aware of citizens continuing to take risks by entering open waters.

"As a result we will be working with partners carrying out patrols and providing guidance at open water sites across the borough.

"Safer MK partners try to reinforce this message but often get ignored. We ask citizens to please remember these people are only trying to prevent a tragedy and ask they are treated with respect."

In 2014, 20-year-old Emily Johnson and 61-year-old Paul Allsop drowned within weeks of each other in the Blue Lagoon.

Mr Wilderspin added: "Don't enter any open water sites in any circumstances. The only safe place to bathe is in supervised swimming pools.

"Please enjoy the outdoors in a responsible manner and remain safe. If you witness people in the lakes, ponds, river or canal, call police on 101, or, in an emergency, 999."

Boater protest over canal rule

A PROTEST took place at the Canal and River Trust (CRT) headquarters in Elder Gate yesterday by the National Barge Travellers Association (NBTA).

The NBTA says that the CRT is revoking too many licences after guidelines introduced last year stated the pattern and distance that boaters should travel.

The CRT said revoking licences is done as a last resort.

Another inmate dies at Woodhill

BY PHILIP MCELENEY

philip.mceleney@onemk.co.uk

AN INQUEST has opened after an inmate at HMP Woodhill became the 13th to die at the prison since 2013.

Michael George Cameron, 45, who is originally from Waterloo in London, was on remand at HMP Woodhill when prison officers entered his cell on April 28 and found him hanging.

He was transferred to the intensive care department at Milton Keynes University Hospital but he was later pronounced dead.

Mr Cameron had been seen by prison officers not long beforehand and had eaten and it seemed all was well with him.

Milton Keynes Coroner's Court opened an inquest into his death on Friday with a pre-inquest review into Mr Cameron's death scheduled for later this year and a full inquest set to take place after that.

Mr Cameron is the fifth prisoner to die at HMP Woodhill in just a few months and the NHS Foundation that works with the inmates has labelled the number of deaths 'unacceptably high'.

The prison service has previously responded to the number of deaths, highlighting how seriously it takes these cases and the care it gives to all inmates.

Get high street happy with these top tips...

THE SAVINGS GURUS AT QUIDCO OFFER EXPERT TIPS TO HELP YOU BOOST YOUR TREATS BUDGET

WITH the balance of working and living being harder than ever to strike, there's never been more temptation to compensate your hard work with a bit of a treat.

Research conducted at Quidco has revealed over a third of those in Manchester have routinely spent the majority of their monthly wage within seven days of being paid and over a third of working adults attempt to stick to a monthly budget only for it to fail.

No wonder that research also told us Mancunians love anything that makes them feel they're getting a good deal on the high street.

Free samples, bagging a bargain they didn't even know they wanted, or seeing something online and then on sale in store topped the list of Manchester high street highs.

Luckily, there are ways to give yourself a little bit of retail therapy and win yourself some high street victories.

POINTS CAN SOMETIMES TAKE A LONG TIME TO TRANSLATE INTO PRIZES

Be savvy to points deals – ask yourself questions like how much they're actually worth for the extras you have to buy to gain them.

That said, don't let the tricksiness stop you from racking up the stamps and points. Those little freebies do add up.

GET ACTUAL POUNDS BACK ON THE THINGS YOU WANT TO BUY

Shops want your business – chances are there's a retailer happy to incentivise you to buy through them...

Cashback is a real winner if you like free money. With thousands of retailers on the Quidco site, if you want something, chances are there's a retailer happy to incentivise you to buy that something through them. Shops want your business – cashback works by taking money retailers are willing to spend on advertising to get your attention, but giving it back to you.

With cashback offered on everything from supermarket essentials to holidays and financial products, it's another way to boost your treats budget – or save towards something more significant.

What's more, you can now link the credit or debit cards you use every day with your Quidco account to get cashback on the high street at over 5,300 stores around the UK.

Claim your £10 bonus when you sign up for Quidco High Street here: www.quidco.com/high-street

MAKE LOYALTY SCHEMES WORK FOR YOU

If your wallet is stacked, it's easy to refuse shop loyalty cards, but that might be a bad idea. You can clean up on loyalty by making sure you collect your stamp when you hit your local coffee shop. And who doesn't love something for free?

That said, be aware of when a deal isn't a deal and don't, despite the name, be blindly loyal. Informed purchasing is the way forward – question introductory offers to make sure the discount you're getting is real, and you can't buy cheaper elsewhere.

Homeless man's McDonald's 'ban'

Not welcome:
Malcolm
Campbell

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@onemk.co.uk

A HOMELESS man claims he was kicked out of McDonald's in Xscape, despite being a paying customer.

Malcolm Campbell went into the fast food restaurant on Friday, April 22 when, despite buying some food and a hot drink, he says he was still told by staff to leave.

He claimed: "I had bought a drink and food but I was still told I was not allowed to sit in there. This has happened twice and the management said they didn't want me in there."

"I was not causing any disturbance and I think they think I am going to sit in there to sleep but I just wanted to finish my drink."

The 49-year-old has been on and off the streets for the last 20 years and is currently not eligible for council housing because of alcoholism.

He said in other McDonald's, including the centre:mk, the staff are happy for him to sit with a drink, especially in the cold weather, and he is well behaved.

His friend Ricky Oates, who is now off the streets but trying to support Malcolm, added: "He had just got drenched in the downpour while he was trying to sleep. He brought a cup of tea and put his bags on the chair next to him."

"According to Malcolm security said homeless people are not welcome in the store, despite revellers making more noise and causing more disruption than him."

McDonald's is looking into the claims by speaking to staff at the Xscape branch. Its franchisee, Ken Tomkins, said: "We welcome all members of the community into our restaurants and therefore do not have a policy in place to ban homeless people. We are looking into this incident and apologise for any confusion or upset caused."

Cloudy2Clear Announce Trusted Trader Partnership

Consumer champions Which? have now joined the thousands of customers who recognise that Cloudy2Clear Windows really are a business that you can TRUST. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has received the coveted 'Which Trusted Trader' status after going through a rigorous accreditation process entirely focussed on customer service.

Group Managing Director Marcus McGee believes that Which? have endorsed Cloudy2Clear's long standing company policy of delivering the highest standards possible at all times. 'Our service is simple. If your double glazing has misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Whilst a number of tradespeople perhaps don't focus on customer care as much as they should do, we make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle.'

Locally Cloudy2Clear service the Bedford, Milton Keynes &

Leighton Buzzard areas and manager Stephen Moon agrees that this approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated as both my customers and, obviously a body as nationally important as Which? now recognise.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Stephen a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Seven challenges for Henry's mum

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@onemk.co.uk

A WELL-KNOWN mum is taking on seven crazy challenges for her late son's seventh birthday and to raise awareness of childhood cancer.

Dawn Allen, the mother of four-year-old Henry Allen who died from rare childhood cancer neuroblastoma in 2013 and was the inspiration behind The Henry Allen Trust charity, completed her first challenge last week and is already petrified of the next one.

The 39-year-old from Bletchley ran the MK Half Marathon on Bank Holiday Monday in just over three hours after just seven weeks of training and will soon be faced with feeding seven venomous snakes.

"Everyone knows I am not a runner and it was hell, but nothing like the hell families go through when their children have cancer," she said.

"I was so disappointed I did not make my two hour target, but it was such an emotional experience with support from families we help on the side-line. My next challenge is holding and feeding seven venomous snakes and I am sweating just talking about it. But I just think let's do it."

Some of the other challenges that have been suggested by The Henry Allen team and some of the families it helps include abseiling down the Lift Tower in Northampton, white water rafting, or rally racing.

Dawn added: "I hate water and am not good with speed either. The idea of abseiling petrifies me as even though I have jumped out of a plane, I would be doing this on my own and be in control of the wire.

"If anyone comes up with any other ideas I am happy for a challenge."

If you would like to suggest a challenge for Dawn and help her raise money for other families facing childhood cancer, visit onemk.co.uk

DO YOU WORK FOR MONEY OR DOES MONEY WORK FOR YOU?

A lady friend of mine recently asked me what she should do to become wealthy. It was quite funny really because this particular lady is articulate, well educated and intelligent. It occurred to me that she had never of course been taught how to accumulate wealth!

Personally I did not go to university but I don't see that as a bad thing. You see I firmly believe that you never stop studying. That is of course if you want to get on in life. The more you learn about business and investing the easier it gets. However, the most important thing to get right first is your state of mind! I have read literally dozens of success books, listened to hundreds of hours of self development and motivational tracks and attended many seminars. I've personally found my personal learning to be far more valuable than an academic degree. Why? Because what I have learnt isn't taught at university! What most people don't realise is that your attitude determines your altitude. The more people you serve the wealthier you will become. There really is no such thing as a free lunch. Research has shown that the average number of hours an individual studies/trains/works out to become a success is 10,000 hours! David Beckham isn't a success by luck. He's worked extremely hard to get to where he is today. Importantly success isn't just about money either. Success to me is about being able to do what you want to do, when you want to do it and not have to worry about the cost. You don't have to be wealthy to get to this position.

A good place to start would be to read "Rich Dad Poor Dad" by Robert Kyosaki. He teaches you to make money work for you rather than work for money. He explains the benefits of owning real assets such as property and shares and the advantages of owning your own business. That way you cease being a "wage slave." Would you like a lifestyle like this?

If you are approaching retirement and/or considering early retirement and need advice why not get in touch?

We work with business executives aged 45+ who are ready to take their life and career by the scruff of the neck.

We are also offering a free pensions and retirement assessment worth £270 to the first 10 people who contact us before 27th May 2016. Terms and conditions apply.

Love split teen took own life on the M1

BY PHILIP MCELENEY

philip.mceleney@onemk.co.uk

THE death of a teenager whose body was found on the M1 has been ruled as suicide by a coroner.

Former Ousedale School student Johnathon McHale, 19, of Wolverton Road, Newport Pagnell, was pronounced dead in the early hours of the morning on January 8 after he had jumped from a bridge over the M1 the previous night and landed head first on the carriageway, before being struck multiple times by vehicles.

An inquest into his death finished on Friday, with assistant coroner Elizabeth Grey citing testimony from collision investigators, as well as 'the trigger' of Johnathon finding out his long-term girlfriend had cheated on him, as evidence that he'd taken his own life.

Speaking at the inquest,

Johnathon's parents explained how their son had been upset about the break-up with his girlfriend a few days prior to his death.

But his father said it seemed Johnathon had been coping with the split and his suicide had come as a total shock to them.

Johnathon had left suicide notes before his death and the court was packed with his friends and family.

£1.5m centre to be built for community

BY SCOTT KIRK

scott.kirk@onemk.co.uk

A NEW community centre will be built in Broughton.

The Milton Keynes Hindu Association is raising the £1.5million to build the facility off Ferrymeads Close.

The first phase will be to construct a quiet room, with work due to begin in either June or July and completed by the end of the year.

The room will be able to accommodate between 120 and 140 people, which is three times more than the current temporary building at the site.

Eventually a hall will extend the space so it can accommodate 500 people, with the charity raising funds and hoping to get financial backing for this next stage of development.

People will be able to hold functions and community events once the hall is constructed.

The centre is a massive boost to the Hindu community, which currently has to rent properties to hold events.

"People are excited because

Exciting: Rikesh Raichura, Vinod Pankhania and Raj Chauhan with a model of how the new centre will look in Broughton they want something they can associate with," said Raj Chauhan, trustee of the charity, which has about 900 families on its books.

"It will bring the community closer together and it's an exciting time as it will bring everything together under one roof. It is also a place where the wider community can visit.

"We need to start small with phase one and then think big afterwards."

The association's fundraising activities include a 108-mile bike ride at Pure Gym in Winterhill between 4pm and 9pm on Monday.

It is also holding an event from May 22-28, which will be centred around the daily recital of the story of Hindu God Lord Shiva by a famous kathakar (storyteller).

Humbled: Dog owner Alison Booden has praised the way the community responded to her post about Floyd's disappearance on Facebook. The four-year-old Border Collie was missing for three days before being found thanks to a tip-off on social media

'Amazing' reunion

BY CHRIS KNIGHT

chris.knight@onemk.co.uk

A THANKFUL dog owner has praised the community after a social media campaign reunited her with her beloved pet.

Alison Booden, 44, lost Floyd, her four-year-old Border Collie, after he ran away at Tesco in Wolverton.

Desperate to be reunited with her pet, Alison posted the news on social networking site Facebook and it was shared more than 1,000 times.

The Help Find Floyd group was set-up a day later and dozens of users sent messages about possible sightings. And after a tip-off led to Floyd being found in Haversham on May 2, Alison has thanked those who helped.

She said: "I'm absolutely gobsmacked that so many people helped a dog and an owner they don't know."

"It's just so humbling - what words can you use as thank you seems inadequate?"

"This proves Milton Keynes has an amazing community."

Floyd escaped by undoing the buckle on his seatbelt harness, but once Alison posted news of Floyd's disappearance on Facebook, everything moved quickly to secure his safe return.

She added: "On Saturday afternoon, I was contacted by two complete strangers about setting up the page. I had another friend who was updating Dogs Lost website."

"My friends and volunteers were doing all of the work on social media so I could go out looking for him - I couldn't even begin to explain how many people were involved!"

"It was an amazing moment when we were reunited."

You could make a difference to a child or young person's life...

tel: 01908 253206

Milton Keynes Council is keen to recruit people who can offer a safe and loving home for a child/young person in care. We are especially seeking carers for teenagers. As a Milton Keynes Council foster carer you will be provided with a generous allowance plus support and training.

Our foster carers come from all walks of life and across a diverse community. They offer children and young people a nurturing, caring home environment where they can begin to thrive and reach their full potential.

It's a challenging role; one which will always ask for a great deal of input and support from you. However in providing a home to a child/young person who is unable to live with their family for a period of time you will be creating a wonderful experience for everyone involved.

Labour continue

LABOUR look set to remain in power despite election results which saw no party seize overall control of MK Council.

The party previously held a one-seat majority over the Conservatives, but are now level with their rivals on 22 seats apiece after Thursday's election.

But subject to an agreement with the Liberal Democrats, Labour look set to retain power as a minority administration.

The Liberal Democrats were the only party to win a seat on the night after they snatched Bradwell ward from Labour.

■ Read the full list of results and interviews with party leaders at onemk.co.uk

Lib Dems

LEADER Douglas McCall – who retained his seat in Newport Pagnell South – has indicated they will allow Labour to retain power and continue as a minority administration.

He added: "Both parties made proposals about working with us.

"We gave due consideration to both and decided – subject to conditions – we will allow Labour to continue.

"They are the incumbents, they received the higher percentage of the popular vote and their manifesto is a closer fit to ours."

Labour

DESPITE the loss of a seat, council leader Pete Marland still labelled it a 'really good night' for Labour.

He added: "Considering the General Election and the difficult leadership contest, it has been good to not lose seats to the Conservatives."

Speaking about the potential agreement, he said: "Our manifestos are very similar and together we got the most votes in the city.

"We need stability to give investors and businesses certainty over the next two years."

Bradwell

BRADWELL ward was the only seat out of 20 to change hands on election night.

Liberal Democrat candidate Marie Bradburn ousted incumbent Labour councillor David Lewis and council leader Pete Marland paid tribute to his colleague following the loss. He said: "He was a great councillor who worked really hard in the ward. I'm really sad to lose him."

All change: Lib Dem Marie Bradburn wins the Bradwell Ward seat from Labour's David Lewis

Tories

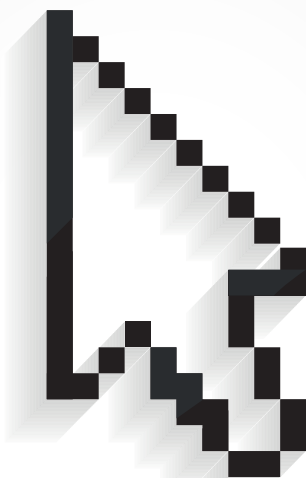

LEADER Edith Bald believes a focus on national issues and a poor turnout from their supporters explained why the party did not win seats on the night.

She added: "We did not lose any seats, which is great. I would have liked us to have won more, but we were very close in two wards."

Turnout

STONY Stratford recorded the highest turnout of the election with 41.97 per cent of voters taking part. Bradwell, Campbell Park and Old Woughton and Loughton and Shenley also posted strong figures. Tattenhoe ranked lowest, with just a 25.73 per cent turnout.

Electricity to blame for High Street fire

BY PHILIP MCELENEY
philip.mceleney@onemk.co.uk

FIREFIGHTERS have confirmed the cause of a fire that caused an historic building to collapse and affected businesses was electrical.

The blaze in High Street, Stony Stratford, on Sunday, May 1 took Buckinghamshire Fire and Rescue several hours to get under control.

Several businesses were affected by the fire and Stony Stratford Business Association has since urged firms to rally together and help each other out.

After seeing the appeal, HCS Crafts offered Carmichael's Vaping space in its shop so it could carry on trading while the clean up and recovery work takes place.

Stephen Clark, 44, owner of HCS Crafts in Swinfens Yard, said: "We saw on Facebook that the business association was asking if anyone could help out, so we've given them a section of our shop."

"We used to occupy the building that burnt down two or three years ago. It's all still

Good neighbours: Stephen Clark, right, has let David Carmichael temporarily move his vaping business into his HCS Crafts shop very much up in the air."

The business association, Stony Stratford Town Council and MK Council are working to speed up clearance of the High Street and inspections of the remaining buildings.

The fire left some businesses such as Carmichael's - which is based in Stratford Arcade - unable to trade from its current location.

David Carmichael, 54, owner of Carmichael's Vaping, said: "HCS Crafts offered up a bit of their shop for us to use."

"My shop is unaffected by the fire but we have no access into the arcade."

"We just don't know how long we will be out for."

"But we will be trading for the same kind of hours as before and offering the same range."

A fire took place on the same day at The Bull Inn in Olney, but there is still no update on when it will reopen.

Carolynne, 67, is crowned queen

BY SCOTT KIRK
scott.kirk@onemk.co.uk

A BEAUTY queen winner, who took up the hobby after her husband died in 2011, has urged more people to take part in competitions.

Carolynne Martin, 67, from Westcroft, won the Crown and Glory National Pageant in Wrexham and will take part in the Mrs UK World contest on June 5 at Gerrards Cross.

She is now encouraging people to take part in a pageant that is being held at Milton Keynes Rugby Club in Emerson Valley on Saturday, July 9.

This event is called the Miss Over 50 and Fabulous 2016 competition.

"Doing this keeps me motivated to not let myself go," said the model, who appeared on This Morning in September.

"There are no reasons why you shouldn't do this and nobody forces people to enter.

"I've got the beautiful dresses and a bit more experience now and I'm going to do this for as long as I can.

"I was really shocked to win because I was the oldest contestant.

"It isn't just about being pretty, it's about your personality and being articulate."

Carolynne also admitted she buys her dresses second-hand because she cannot afford to spend hundreds of pounds on them.

Next for Carolynne, who was once a backing singer for stars such as Tony Christie, is the Miss Sparkling Beauty pageant, which takes place in Wiltshire on Sunday.

Mother swan found dead on park nest

BY CHRIS KNIGHT

chris.knight@onemk.co.uk

THE Parks Trust has urged people to be vigilant after a mother swan was found dead on her nest following an animal attack.

It is unclear what attacked the bird but it has been confirmed she died from an infection in the wound.

Veterinary surgeon Steve Smith, a specialist in zoo and wildlife medicine, said: "I have found that there are corresponding puncture wounds to the top and bottom of the left thigh.

"The wounds could be consistent with a bite from a medium sized animal."

"Given the degree of infection in the wound, the injury is likely to have occurred many days ago and this secondary infection is more likely to have caused death."

A spokesman for The Parks Trust said: "We would like to remind people to keep a look out for swans nests and signs alerting people to the nests in their area."

PROTECTED BY LAW

- The Wildlife & Countryside Act 1981 protects swans.
 - It is an offence to destroy a swan's nest, eggs or cygnets.
 - Swans mate for life.

'Make the most of the concrete cows'

BY PHILIP MCELENEY

philip.mceleney@onemk.co.uk

THE director of the country's largest tourism board has urged the city to embrace the concrete cows and make them a major part of its 50th birthday celebrations.

Bernard Donoghue, director of the Association of Leading Visitor Attractions (ALVA), has said the concrete cows generate a brand awareness for Milton Keynes, which is something most cities would love to have.

And he believes the cows – which were recently moved back to their original home at MK Museum after a spell at the intu shopping centre – are a unique-selling point for Milton Keynes that should be celebrated.

Mr Donoghue, who was addressing members of Milton Keynes Business Leadership Partnership at the recent quarterly dinner, said:

"Use them. Absolutely use them. I would be sorely tempted in the 50th anniversary year to say we are going to love the cows and that they are so special to us we should ask Grayson Perry to be a guest curator and dress those cows in all their glory."

The chief executive of the city's tourism body Destination MK, Steven Gordon-Wilson, had asked Mr Donoghue about the cows.

He told OneMK: "I was listening to Mr Donoghue's presentation, which centred on how to promote MK as a premier visitor attraction."

"He managed to speak for an hour without mentioning the cows – until I asked the question about whether they should be embraced.

"It has always been my opinion that we should own our unique selling points."

"The health warning that comes along with that is that we can't just rely on that, otherwise we become the butt of more silly jokes; but using them as a big part of the city branding strategy is absolutely the right thing to do."

Invictus: The athletes are given a great send-off

Leaving for the Invictus Games

CITY MP Mark Lancaster waved off competitors as they jetted off from Heathrow to the Invictus Games. The wounded and sick armed services members will be competing in the games, organised by Prince Harry, in Orlando, Florida.

Mr Lancaster, the Parliamentary Undersecretary of State for Defence Personnel and Veterans, said: "This demonstrates how powerful the medium of sport is in aiding our wounded service personnel."

Plans to make you feel safer

BY PHILIP MCELENEY
philip.mceleney@onemk.co.uk

AFTER statistics revealed crime has risen in the city over the last year, residents have been urged to have their say on the issues that matter to them.

SaferMK is looking for the views of residents and employees on safety in the city, to help partners such as the police and fire service to target the right areas.

In the last survey – in 2012 – respondents raised concerns about anti-social behaviour and in response the reduction of alcohol and drug-related crime has become a priority.

Overall crime in Milton Keynes has risen by 3.3 per cent, according to the latest Thames Valley Police figures.

Colin Wilderspin, head of community safety (SaferMK) at Milton Keynes Council, said: "It is important for us to hear from the people of Milton Keynes. We want people to feel and be safe living and working in the city.

"If there is something people are concerned about, we want to know so we can look at how best to deal with and look at these issues."

The survey will be open until Wednesday, June 29.

Access the survey at safermk.com or for a hard copy call 01908 253984, or email safermk@milton-keynes.gov.uk

Summer catwalk to support designers

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@onemk.co.uk

INDEPENDENT designer Gemma McErlane has announced she will be gracing the catwalk at the Run Your Way fashion show coming to Wonderworld in Xscape this summer.

As OneMK previously reported, the fashion show, which will be on Friday, July 29, will include a champagne reception, catwalk and entertainment.

The event, supported by OneMK, aims to attract more than 400 people and hopes to promote all the local fashionistas and boutiques hidden in our high streets.

Fashion designer Miss McErlane, from Bedfordshire, launched her luxury ready-to-wear brand for both men and women this year.

She produces a seasonal bi-annual collection while offering a made-to-measure and bespoke service for private clients.

Miss McErlane will showcase her SS15/16 collection at the fashion show, which includes a selection of luxury and occasion-wear for women.

Her unique style focuses on high-society elegance reminiscent of 1920s America and creates a sophisticated and stylish look.

Organiser Gemma Burnikell, from GM Events, said: "Gemma's strong expertise is a highlight for Run Your Way and we are extremely excited to showcase her new SS16 designs on the runway and support her independent brand alongside other anticipated designers."

Vintage Shell garage to be a world first for town

ONEMK is taking a look at the latest news and events going on in Newport Pagnell over the next few months.

The market town has a full schedule of activities coming up, including the popular Newport Pagnell Carnival.

But this isn't the only exciting news from the town. Residents are already looking forward to a new development planned for the area in 2017 to celebrate its motoring history.

Step back in time: An artist impression of what Woad Corner Garage, which will celebrate Shell's history, could look like

People will be able to hold their own events on site from vintage parties to car rallies, auctions and conferences.

On the second floor of the building there are also plans for a museum and art gallery to continue to celebrate Shell's history. The third floor will be available to rent by businesses.

Chairman of Newport Pagnell Business Association, Brian Rudd from Cambourne Travel, commented: "We are certainly welcoming Woad Corner Garage."

"We have been involved in the plans from the start 12 years ago and it has been a long process with a few problems with planning but we fully support it."

"It is very exciting news and will reinforce Newport Pagnell's history as a motor manufacturing town with Aston Martin, which used to make cars here and now continues to showcase cars and hold events here."

Read more about the plans for the site, including artist impressions, flashback pictures of what the site looked like and how you can get involved in the retail or office opportunities, at onemk.co.uk

You can also share your views on Facebook/OneMKNews and on Twitter @OneMKNews

A MAN'S 12-year dream can now come true after planning permission was granted for the first vintage garage of its kind in the world.

Mick Pacey, chairman of Woad Corner Limited who has a global licence to represent the Shell brand pre-1971, has had plans to open the garage since 2004.

The £2.5million Woad Corner, which is set to open next year along Sherington Road, will include the world's first fully operational vintage Shell petrol station, a drive-thru diner, 1950s coffee bar, classic car show rooms, period retailing and office space.

Mr Pacey, who actually lives in the town, said: "Newport Pagnell has 200 years of motoring history, from Salmon Coachmakers to Aston Martin.

"This will be a unique selling point for the town, which, like other market towns, has suffered from the internet and shopping centres, but I believe as the first vintage Shell garage in the world it will be a great visitor attraction."

The 10,000ft mixed use building will also have parking and look over the countryside and River Great Ouse in Newport Pagnell.

Mr Pacey plans to roll out garages in other places of historic motoring significance including towns in Italy, Germany and France.

He added: "What seemed like a good idea at the time has been a long process. It has been a roller-coaster ride of emotions.

"I finally got planning permission from Milton Keynes Council two months ago."

"I am looking for a blend of partners for the site from 1950s barbers to a blend of retail. The plan is part of a number of sites to be rolled out all over the world."

Mr Pacey admitted he has already had a great response from residents.

And as well as creating local employment opportunities, Mr Pacey also hopes the site will increase local tourism and trade, as well as attracting national and international coverage.

The Drop Off Cafe's children's party slots snapped up after launch

JUST six weeks after Rachel Burgon launched her children's party packages at The Drop Off Cafe, they are fully booked for May.

The cafe in Wordsworth Avenue, near Portfields Primary

School, was already popular with mums and local business owners who met there during weekly and fortnightly sessions, but after launching children's parties the sessions this month are already fully booked. Mrs

Burgon, a mother-of-two from Broad Street, said: "May is sold out and we already have a few booked in June, July and even December."

"The parties mainly appeal to girls six and above as boys that age want to go to laser tag or action parties. There are not many places for girls and we offer craft and pamper parties with inside catering."

They start from £149. Read more at onemk.co.uk

More members are scouting out groups

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@onemk.co.uk

MORE than 200 scouts from Milton Keynes joined in a celebration with TV adventurer Steve Backshall as the number of members in Buckinghamshire continues to grow.

As well as celebrating Club Scouts 100 year birthday of adventure this year, Buckinghamshire scouting groups have seen an eight per cent increase in girls joining and a two per cent membership increase overall.

Ambassador Mr Backshall came to congratulate them on their growing numbers in a surprise visit to one of their camps at Phasels Wood Activity Centre, near Kings Langley, on Saturday, April 30. He was joined by Scottish Rugby Union player Thom Evans as scouts took part in abseiling, caving, climbing, inflatables, karting and zorbing.

The Cub Scouts for eight to 10-and-a-half-year-olds is the most popular scouting section with nearly 2,800 boys and girls involved in Birthday party: Steve Backshall and Thom Evans join some of the county's scouts in the birthday celebrations. Could you join?

Buckinghamshire. Mr Backshall's mission is to help increase numbers of Cub Scouts even further and help them be as visible as possible in their communities.

He said: "Like me, Cub Scouts love adventure and the outdoors. That's why I'm so excited to be the Ambassador for Cubs100, the 2016 centenary of Cubs. With thousands of adventure camps, parties and other activities taking place right across the UK, we're calling it The Wildest Birthday Ever.

"Around 150,000 girls and boys are enjoying the fun and friendship of Cubs.

"They're learning new skills, trying new things and having the best possible start in life."

James Palin, lead volunteer for Buckinghamshire Scouts, added: "Scouting provides great opportunities to do things for the first time and offers great pleasure for adult volunteers too."

Aiming to step back in time at museum's history weekend

GET your muskets at the ready for there is war and a whole lot more going on at Milton Keynes Museum this weekend.

Not only are the Redcoats performing their colourful manoeuvres, the Vikings are coming and with them a whole heap of turmoil from other turbulent times in the nation's past. Invasion, civil war and the war of Spanish Succession all feature in almost 2,000 years of living history at the museum's History Festival.

It will be a chance to see and join in with people living, working, fighting and playing during key periods in this area's history.

You can haggle with Roman traders selling everything from jewellery to potions, or marvel at their artists at work using colour pigments as the Romans did.

Find out the way the Vikings lived and fought through the ages and you can even join them in battle.

There is a chance to have a go at Medieval archery or join in with the 12th century re-enactment group covering civilian, military and religious life in the Middle Ages.

Should you have the stomach for it you can meet a Tudor surgeon with his cure-all leeches, or get a gentler introduction to the Tudors with Lucy the Tudor's hands-on display.

MK Museum's History Festival runs from 11am-4.30pm on Saturday and Sunday with all the usual museum attractions also on offer.

Tickets are £9 for adults, £6 for children and £7.50 for the retired and unwaged. Or why not buy a new annual season ticket for £26, which admits two adults and up to four children as many times as they like for 12 months.

TO CELEBRATE Maaya Indian Kitchen & Bar's new award and different type of menu, the restaurant has teamed up with MK LIFE to offer two meals for four people with prosecco.

Maaya has been awarded the highest possible grade for its food hygiene standards.

The independently owned restaurant situated in The Hub received a food hygiene rating of five (very good), which is the highest mark from the Environment and Regulatory Services at Milton Keynes Council.

Owner and restaurant manager Mo Abdul said: "This is wonderful news. As an independent, we are delighted to have achieved this standard, which is a show of our hard work and dedication to offering the very best level of service and quality."

The food hygiene rating or inspection result given to a business reflects the standards of food hygiene found on the date of inspection.

Maaya has also become the first restaurant in the area to provide menus written purely in Braille, allowing its visually impaired customers to freely choose their dishes.

It has had its lunch, a la carte, drinks and dessert menus converted into Braille.

Mo added: "We strongly

a meal for four believe in creating a restaurant that is comfortable and accessible to everyone."

Jeff Bashon, a volunteer at BucksVision, which was invited to try the new menu, said: "I was delighted to have the opportunity of independently accessing the Braille menu at Maaya, a very rare opportunity for me as a totally blind person."

To be in with the chance of winning one of the meals, valid Sunday to Thursday, simply answer the following question:

What type of food does Maaya serve?

- A) Chinese
B) British
C) Indian

naturereserve

THE city's newest nature reserve is buzzing with life, according to The Parks Trust's biodiversity officer Martin Kincaid.

The 48 hectare site, at Manor Farm, in Old Wolverton, which was quarried between 2007 and 2014, is being restored for a wealth of wildlife and its 2.5km of footpaths, boardwalks and three bird hides are now open while the contractor finishes the details.

Although still very much a work in progress, the Floodplain Forest Nature Reserve is already widely known for its abundant wildlife. At this time of year the site is full of migrating birds, including swallows, sand and house martins, warblers, wheatears and brilliantly colourful yellow wagtails.

The various islands and muddy banks are used by declining wading birds like lapwing, pictured, redshank, ringed and little ringed plovers as well as black headed gulls and common terns.

Elsewhere at Manor Farm, barn owls and little owls nest and may be seen on evening or early morning visits.

One of my favourite species arrives in May – the hobby. This small falcon, another migrant from Africa, is a dashing hunter, chasing after swallows and other small birds at this time of year but feeding mainly on dragonflies in the summer months.

Although less evident than the birds, the lakes and ditches are abound with insect life too.

Read more about the species at onemk.co.uk

HI, I'M Kate Monster, this week's guest columnist!

Me and my friends from Avenue Q have taken time out of our UK tour to take over Milton Keynes and get to know this amazing city before we perform here next week.

So a little about us – we're from Avenue Q, a pretty down-beat street in a very crummy part of New York.

It's a fun place to live and there's never a dull moment.

There's Trekkie Monster, who has an unhealthy addiction to certain – ahem – naughty websites, Christmas Eve the Japanese therapist, the Bad Idea Bears (who likes to convince you that it's a good idea to do some very bad things) and Gary Coleman is our superintendent.

Being on tour in the UK, it's really fun to see all the amazing things England has to offer.

Countryside, sheep, fish and chips, tea, rail replacement bus services. And now here we are in Milton Keynes! The first thing we did was meet some concrete cows, who apparently are fellow celebrities.

They weren't very talkative but seemed friendly enough!

We've invited them to come and see the show. We were then treated to a tour of stadiummk, home of MK Dons. Some videos of what we have been doing in MK are available on onemk.co.uk

Tickets for the show start from £17.90 at tgtickets.co.uk

filmreview

IDRIS Elba strengthens his James Bond credentials in Bastille Day, in which he really steals the show.

His American accent isn't too bad and he plays the role of 'bad-ass' to perfection.

You can imagine him following on from Daniel Craig's Bond, although he is more akin to Jack Bauer in 24 in this role.

Richard Madden, who Game of Thrones fans will remember as Robb Stark from the cult series, was pleasantly surprising as the pickpocket who inadvertently steals a backpack containing a bomb.

As a viewer you can't help but invest in his character and feel a bit sorry for him.

If it wasn't for the performance of and general banter between Elba and Madden, the film wouldn't be up to much.

Some of the jokes are a bit cringey, but you definitely find yourself rooting for Elba and Madden to do well. The action sequences are also good.

This is an old-fashioned action flick, so some of the plot is a little bit over-the-top, as well as some of the acting by the villains.

But it's a different take on your typical action film and is certainly worth a watch.

MK GALLERY will be showing five short films that explore abstraction as subject and form.

Artist Beatrice Gibson will introduce two of her works – F for Fibonacci, which develops a particular episode from William Gaddis' novel JR, and Crippled Symmetries, in which an 11-year-old capitalist and his sidekick are the protagonists of this experimental meditation.

Tony Conrad's Cycles of 3s and 7s looks at how harmonic intervals are represented by computation of their arithmetic or frequency ratios.

In Vivir para Vivir by Laida Lertxundi a trajectory of being lost is drawn across sparsely populated mountain regions.

And Sound Over Water by Mary Helena is an underwater evocation in which the floating particles and fish combine with the stains and grains on 16mm film.

Free tickets to the showings on Thursday, May 19 at 7pm can be booked at www.mkgallery.org

PROPERTY TALK

>with NIGEL LEWIS

A home in the world's highest?

MORE Brits are spurning Spain and blanking the Balkans to fork out on a holiday home in the Middle East.

More than 19,000 of us now own property in Dubai, with British investors pumping £1.9bn into Dubai's property sector last year, according to the Dubai Land Department, with investments almost doubling in the last three years.

Dubai has a reputation for building stacks of futuristic skyscrapers that have transformed its skyline, and the latest development is no exception. A new super tower – at more than 2,716ft high – will dwarf current record-holder Burj Khalifa. Costing £700m, it'll house a boutique hotel, shops, restaurants, function rooms and VIP observation garden decks, while The Pinnacle Room will even have rotating glass balconies.

It's part of the new Dubai Creek Harbour which will eventually boast a world class yacht club, marina and harbour, and 22 hotels. Hundreds of villas and apartments are also planned for the development, and are now up for grabs; building starts in the summer, with new residents expected to be able to move in, in 2020.

The reception rooms will have floor-to-ceiling windows opening onto a private balcony, dividing into a living room and dining room. They'll also have high-spec designer kitchens and bedrooms with deep fitted wardrobes while the larger apartments will have master bedroom suites with en-suite bathrooms and walk-in wardrobes/dressing rooms.

Prices for apartments start from £184,135 for a one bed, £302,426 for a two bed and £393,841 for a three bed home.

Will you always want more here?

COULD you consider yourself at home in this trendy loft space with a cinematic history?

It was once used as Fagin's lair for his gang of juvenile pickpockets in the 1968 hit musical film Oliver! which starred Ron Moody as Fagin, Oliver Reed as Bill Sikes, and Mark Lester as Oliver.

The former child actor recalled that the boys were terrified of his co-star and told The Guardian: "Ron Moody was very jolly and used to play cards with us between shoots but Oliver Reed was one of those method actors who got into the role completely. When he picked Fagin up by the scruff of his neck, Ron was nearly strangled. And in the scene where he had to drag me along the streets, he really flung me about."

You might have to pick a pocket or two to afford it though, as this warehouse conversion at New Concordia Wharf between is on the market for £965,000. Converted in the '80s, it was originally used to store grain, tea and spices, and according to the agent is considered one of the more authentic warehouse homes in the now sought-after neighbourhood. It adds that the apartments were all sold as shells which means each one is unique and can be re-modelled

Up on the fourth floor, with one reception room and one bathroom, it's got exposed brick walls, beamed ceilings and warehouse windows with plenty of light. There's also a swimming pool and communal roof garden in the block along with extra storage and a parking space.

Relax at X-factor judge's house

MUSIC mogul Simon Cowell is reportedly struggling to find new fellow judges for this year's X Factor.

According to press reports, the high-trousered one is having a nightmare after Cheryl Fernandez-Versini and Nick Grimshaw quit the singing show. Nicole Scherzinger is said to have snubbed his offer to return, Sharon Osbourne can't make it because of filming commitments in the States and even Louis Walsh's return isn't a done deal.

No doubt he'll pull it off in time for the upcoming thirteenth series of the ITV show which sees the mentors whisking their groups off to exotic locations for their final audition.

Last year the judges' houses chateau and houses in LA, Rome and the Cotswolds. But in 2010 Cowell chose Cove Spring House, in St James, Barbados – where he'd also taken a bunch of ex-girlfriends for Christmas dinner and karaoke for his annual retreat.

Dibnah's digs from age of steam

FANS of the late flat-cap wearing steeplejack Fred Dibnah sometimes spend the night at his old quirky house – a shrine to the golden age of steam.

The three-bed property, which featured in numerous documentaries about him, has the Fred Dibnah Heritage Centre next door which includes an engine shed, workshops and a mine shaft – complete with winding gear. Its current owners run tours of the works and house, even offering overnight stays in a guest bedroom in their house for the real Dibnah enthusiasts.

The TV personality, who died in 2004 aged 66, started work as a joiner but fulfilled his dream of becoming a steeplejack to service the hundreds of chimneys that once crowded the skies of Bolton. Dibnah shot to fame after being profiled on a local news programme in 1979 where he was filmed hanging 240ft off the ground while repairing the town hall clock.

The father-of-six was a great admirer of the Industrial Revolution and the Victorians and in his last series – Fred Dibnah's Age of Steam – he toured the country on his completed traction engine, visiting the workshops that still could produce the parts needed for his antique vehicle.

Dibnah's grade two-listed house looks like a single storey Victorian Gothic gatehouse from the front and was built around 1854. Extended in 1990 to create a traditional cottage feel with stone, tile and mock beams, feature fireplaces and a refurbished range, it's on the market for £450,000, while the Heritage Centre will set you back another £250,000.

Secure home at a very high cost

WHILE a dog and a burglar alarm is enough for most of us, this ultra-swanky apartment block boasts panic rooms, bulletproof glass, and bowler-hatted guards trained by British Special Forces.

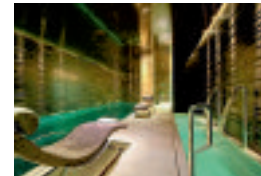

Slanted vertical slats on the windows stop outsiders from peering in and residents' mail is x-rayed before being delivered. And a cunning tunnel through to the neighbouring five-star Mandarin Oriental Hotel means you can get room service without venturing outside.

One Hyde Park is not only a notoriously secretive apartment block but also the world's most exclusive address and the most expensive residential development ever built. So what do you get for your money? A 21-metre ozone swimming pool, saunas and steam rooms, private gym, squash court and golf simulator. There's also an 18-seat private cinema and each apartment has its own private wine cave.

The building has become a symbol of luxury London property's 'buy to leave' culture and is infamous for being rarely lit up at night. Pakistan's prime minister and the president of Kazakhstan call it home and if you fancy joining them, there's a 4,000 sq ft, four-bedroom park-facing apartment on the £22,500 per week – that's £1.17million per year.

The third floor, fully furnished apartment has a large formal reception room with floor-to-ceiling sliding windows, large kitchen with marble breakfast bar, private dining room, and four en-suite bedrooms, one of which is being used as a media room. You can also use a staff entrance, and the apartment comes with a private underground parking space.

Advertiser's Announcement

Hawkmoth Property Consultants 'make their move'

Fighting the Stony Stratford fire.

Kathryn Hawkins presents winner Steve Foot with Champagne!

Hawkmoth Property Consultants is the brainchild of its founder and owner Kathryn Hunter, a veteran in the property industry of some 8 years. Having spent that time holding many positions from sales negotiator up to compliance officer within the Head Office of many of the High Street national agencies, Kathryn has amassed a wealth of experience and achieved considerable success in selling houses, along the way.

"What initially inspired me to start-up Hawkmoth" recalls Kathryn, "was my own experience as a home buyer and as a parent. There is no more of an emotional or stressful situation than selling your house and securing the purchase of a new home for yourselves and your family - not to mention the investment of your life's earnings".

"To be honest, the High Street Estate Agents have commoditised the selling of a house to being a numbers game based on achieving viewing targets and hooks into financial packages, in fact it's become so impersonal that some companies leave the vendor to manage the viewings themselves!"

"The personal approach to holding the customer's hand through this process has been lost and I believe that our philosophy of knowing our clients needs as well as, or if not better than they do, is what stands Hawkmoth out from the rest."

HAWKMOTH launched last month at a VIP event held at the Hilton Hotel, where the keynote was delivered by The Mayor of Milton Keynes Councillor Keith McLean to a host of supporters, prospective customers and representatives from diverse sectors within the MK business community. The Mayor commented on Kathryn's drive and passion, which he believed epitomises the spirit of Milton Keynes and that future success for HAWKMOTH, based on the values it stood for, was inevitable. The evening was sponsored by MIND who are a charity very close to Kathryn's heart and one that she supports fervently. Steve McNay Director of Milton Keynes MIND was on hand to deliver an emotional address about the challenges faced by people with mental illness. Steve resonated with The Mayor that what is required is passion and care, such that Kathryn takes into every aspect of her life and work, to make a telling difference to sufferers of mental illness and to her customers, alike.

This drive and passion to succeed was severely tested a lot sooner than was expected when just three weeks after HAWKMOTH opened its doors in Stony Stratford, it was raised to the ground along with other businesses during the tragic fire that engulfed several buildings on the High Street recently. Fire crews from across the county and beyond, fought heroically well into the night, to bring the blaze under control, finally extinguishing the fire in the early hours of the Sunday morning. Kathryn, along with her Branch Manager, Karen Jones and fellow office and home owners, stood and watched helplessly as their properties collapsed into the High Street.

Whilst many would be defeated by such an event, the true spirit and determination of Kathryn and her team saw HAWKMOTH secure new premises within just 48 hours of the event, becoming fully operational almost immediately, without any impact to customers relying on HAWKMOTH to manage their move.

"Life doesn't JUST go on" said Kate - "it has to go on AND upwards." "You can never tell what life is going to throw at you on a day-by-day basis, so it's our company philosophy to recognise that and ensure to our customers that we will prioritise their needs and their move, over and above all eventuality."

It was with that in mind that Kathryn made good on the presentation of a bottle of Champagne to the latest winner of the Hawkmoth Advertisement Challenge. HAWKMOTH challenged its social media followers to spot the HAWKMOTH adverts that have graced various locations around the city and tweet/message the locations back. Mr Steven Foot from Emmerson Valley was the first to identify the advertising board located outside Escape. Steve who manages Connect Services Industrial Services and Property Maintenance Ltd. was delighted to receive a bottle of bubbly and commented "How refreshing to see an estate agent breaking free from routine normality and doing something fun and different to advertise themselves and how they are capable of reaching out."

Kathryn closed her launch event by defining her belief in her company. "Change can be fearful, change can be daunting and change can be stressful, but Hawkmoth's conviction is that change should be a rewarding and exciting experience and like the hatching of a beautiful Hawkmoth from its chrysalis... change when managed properly can be a beautiful thing."

MG GS an SUV first

MG has unveiled its all-new SUV, the MG GS, at the London Motor Show. At an exclusive preview event at the Battersea Park show, Chinese-owned MG pulled back the cover on the GS to reveal the new addition to the UK model range. It is the first time that the 92-year-old brand, famous for its sports cars such as the TF and the MGB has had an SUV in its line up.

MG also announced that the MG GS will come with the British manufacturer's first automatic transmission. The SUV's top specification model will be available with the option of a seven speed DCT gearbox instead of the standard six speed manual transmission. The GS will also come with a 1.5-litre turbo petrol engine and will be available in three different trim levels.

The top range model revealed at the show included leather trim and a smart looking interior complete with a fold-down rear armrest and shiny kickplates. The instrumentation includes a central display screen and the car is also fitted with an electronic parking brake which sits behind the gear lever. Space inside is more than adequate for a compact SUV, as is the boot and the GS has enough presence to sit happily in the crossover market. Matthew Cheyne, head of sales and marketing for MG, said: "When considering transmissions and engine choices, we listened to our customers and looked at market trends. "It's not only a momentous occasion to unveil our first SUV, it is also a significant moment to announce our first automatic – something many of our customers have been waiting for, and so we're thrilled to be offering it to them." MG is assuring customers that when prices are announced in June, they will reflect the family pricing strategy. Cheyne added: "Regarding how much this fantastic new car will cost, it will be consistent with our other models. When we say our cars are affordable, we mean it. The price structures are easy to understand and have no surprise additions. "When we officially launch the GS next month, people will be able to find out more about the car's performance and when they can get behind the wheel of one." Two cars currently come off the Longbridge assembly lines: the MG6 and the MG3 with several models planned for the immediate and longer-term future.

Nissan Pulsar 1.5 DCI Tekna

By: Jon Smith

REMEMBER the Nissan Almera? No, not many people do. Well, it was a perfectly acceptable – if rather dull – family hatchback and it didn't quite catch the public's eye.

It's been gone a full decade now, and since then Nissan has had a runaway success with the Qashqai crossover.

But not everyone needs or wants an SUV lookalike or a people carrier and there's living proof the hatchback sector is alive and kicking...witness the success of the Focus, Golf and Astra.

So Nissan two years ago made a bold return to the fold with the five-door Pulsar which uses the same engines and much of the running gear as the Qashqai. Cheaper than the Golf, it is well equipped, roomy and robust.

Two petrol versions are available – a 1.2-litre 113bhp economy model and a 1.6-litre 188bhp, sporty model.

Then there's the 1.5-litre turbo diesel which with 108bhp and a useful amount of torque is the car to appeal to families and fleet users alike for its zero road tax and high economy. Around the 50mpg mark on everyday journeys is within easy reach.

It was this model, in top line Tekna trim, that I drove. Even the entry version gets five-inch colour screen, cruise control and air con.

By the time you are up to Tekna level the compact, but rather upright standing Pulsar has such treats as heated mirrors, leather upholstery, heated front seats, surround camera system and lane departure warning. The price of the 1.5 DCI Tekna is £22,445.

Deceptively roomy within the cabin, the Pulsar is well finished with high quality trim, an attractive but practical fascia and plenty of family-friendly pockets and storage places to carry necessary oddsands.

The controls are light and well placed. Luggage must be lifted over a high sill into the boot, but dimensions are generous and up to 385litres of cargo can be carried, making it one of the roomiest cars in its class. Fold the rear seats down and this expands to 1,395 litres.

So, the Pulsar satisfies or exceeds demands on accommodation and economy, but how does it drive?

If you are expecting a comfortable car but not a sporty one, then you will be quite happy. While it scores well in terms of refinement and ride standard, even over undulating or pock-marked roads, it doesn't break new ground in athleticism or dynamics and the steering is a tad too light to be communicative.

Cornering is safe and predictable, and despite some body roll, adhesion is up to the class average.

The six-speed gearbox is reasonably light but the change has a long-throw action. Acceleration is slightly below the class average with 62mph coming up in just over 11 seconds. Top speed is 118mph.

Gear ratios are relatively high which benefits quiet, relaxed cruising but means inclines may force you to change down earlier than normal.

Roomy, comfortable and unusually frugal, the Pulsar is a talented alternative to the obvious hatchback clan options.

SsangYong launches sales initiative

KOREAN brand SsangYong is upping the ante on its sales momentum by introducing a zero per cent interest offer on selected models across its range. Rated as the second fastest growing car company in the UK, the manufacturer has nominated models from its SUV, pick-up, MPV and 4x4 line-up for the new initiative. It means the Tivoli SE is available from £108 per month, the Korando SE from £133, Turismo SE seven-seater from £158, Rexton SE from £192 and the Korando Sports SX pick-up from £125 per month. SsangYong Motor UK chief Paul Williams said: "Already known for their great value proposition, we have just made our cars even more tempting to new car buyers. "Korean built and comprehensively equipped, at prices and with a warranty no other brand can match, we are confident that with highly tempting offers like this you will be seeing many more SsangYong cars on the road this summer." The 0% finance programme, which is being administered by SsangYong's finance provider GMAC, offers purchasers realistic deposits and competitive monthly payments. All models in the SsangYong range are manufactured in South Korea and covered by a five-year limitless mileage warranty

BENTLEY'S NEW APPLE APP TAKES CONTROL

ANYONE owning a new £160,000 Bentley Bentayga luxury SUV has a new gizmo to play with if they also have an Apple Watch. A new app is available which enables passengers to control in-car systems from their smart watches. The Seats, entertainment selection and climate control in the Bentayga can all be adjusted remotely. The technology, which uses bespoke digital architecture, enables those being driven in the Bentayga to remotely control the on-board climate and entertainment systems, adjust the heating, ventilation and massage functions of their seats and monitor real-time information, such as vehicle speed, distance travelled and outside temperature. Using the Bentayga's Bluetooth connectivity, Apple Watch wearers simply synchronise with the vehicle's Touch Screen Remote system and then interact with the car from the convenience of their wrist. Dan Whittaker, director of electrical and electronics at Bentley, said: "The Bentayga is technologically advanced and combines this with luxury in a way only Bentley can achieve. "This new Apple Watch connectivity is another example of how we are constantly innovating in order to enhance the customer experience."

ENGINE BOOST FOR SKODA YETI

SKODA is expanding its Yeti Monte Carlo range with the addition of two new engines, a diesel and petrol. Following its introduction to the Yeti line-up last year, the sporty Monte Carlo model has proved popular with buyers – prompting Skoda to offer an even broader and more affordable range for 2016. Originally available with a 2.0 TDI 150bhp diesel, the Yeti Monte Carlo range now features a 1.2 TSI 110bhp petrol and 2.0 TDI 110bhp diesel – with the petro-powered model offered with an optional seven-speed DSG gearbox. The arrival of the two new engine options has the added advantage of making the Yeti Monte Carlo an even more affordable proposition, with the 1.2 TSI model starting at £19,700. Adding the DSG automatic gearbox increases the price to £20,800, while the new 2.0 TDI comes in at £21,045. All three new models are front-wheel drive and come with good specification lists and a striking design package. This consists of 17-inch Origami alloy wheels finished in gloss black, Bi-Xenon headlamps with cornering function and dynamic angle control, black roof and door mirrors and black spoilers at the front and rear. In addition, all versions feature a black front grille, Monte Carlo badging and LED rear lights. Inside, standard equipment includes a three-spoke Supersport leather multifunction steering wheel, sports seats with Monte Carlo upholstery and Monte Carlo floor mats, instrument cluster and door sill trims.

Civic Type R In Hill Climb Triumph

THE fiery Honda Civic Type R has set a new class record and become the first standard production car to score points in the 69-year history of the Avon Tyres/TTC Group MSA British Hillclimb Championship. Scottish journalist David Finlay piloted the Civic Type R to success, shaving over a second off the old class record and in the process creating motorsport history.

Claiming five points, the Type R came ninth overall and completed the 0.83 mile course in 54.69 seconds, over a second faster than the previous record. Craigantlet Hillclimb is a speed event organised by the Ulster Automobile Club which was first held in 1913 and is the only venue in Northern Ireland to host a round of the British Hillclimb Championship. Billed as a 'race car for the road', the Civic Type R is powered by the most extreme and high-performing Type R engine ever built - a turbocharged 2.0 litre petrol engine delivering 310PS.

MK College bring home a trophy

Success: MK College celebrate their cup triumph

BY SCOTT KIRK

scott.kirk@onemk.co.uk

MILTON Keynes College's Elite Men's football team celebrated after claiming victory in the English College's FA Premier Cup Final at Birmingham City's St Andrews stadium.

After a hard-fought and nail-biting encounter last Wednesday, the team from Milton Keynes overcame the side from York College/i2i Academy 3-2, thanks to a winning goal from man-of-the-match Alfie Leadbeater.

Following a tense first half that saw the sides go into the interval locked at 0-0, it took a strike from MK's King David-Ray Marstaller to open the scoring before Leadbeater found the net for his first of the day to give the college's side a seemingly unassailable 2-0 lead.

However, with 12 minutes to go, the side from York found the net to halve the lead before completing an unlikely comeback to level the scores and set up the tie for a nervy last few moments.

With the threat of extra time and penalties looming, it took a moment of class and composure from Leadbeater to cancel out the comeback and break the hearts of the York-based academy, finding the net in the 90th minute.

MK head coach James Nash said: "I'm really pleased for the boys – they've come on a long journey and they had to dig in.

"When it went to 2-2, other teams could have crumbled. With three minutes to go they found their way back into the game and I think that after the whole journey, they fully deserve it.

"They showed massive character.

Looking ahead, the MK side now face their second major final in a week when they travel to Doncaster for the League Play-off Final, a game which Nash knows they will be looking forward to.

He added: "They're very excited – they were slightly disappointed by their performance today because they know they can give a lot more and they will probably feel like they've got a point to prove next week.

"I think we've got so much talent at Milton Keynes College – we've had a lot of interest in these players and they're privileged to be part of a fantastic football academy that's in the best two finals that they can be in for their standard and age."

MK College principal and CEO Julie Mills said: "Every member of the side and the coaching team has been a credit to Milton Keynes College and we should all share in their success by congratulating them and shining a light on their hard work and dedication.

"The game was a demonstration of the resolve, commitment and persistence required to achieve – and those are key skills for any challenge to our learners in their studies and future careers."

HOCKEY

Summer League gets started with a bang

IT WAS a fantastic start to the Milton Keynes Mixed Summer Hockey League with 24 goals in three games.

Mad Max beat South Africa 4-2, which saw all six goals from different scorers.

The game of the day sent Bogies Explosion to the top of Division One for the first time in their history by taking the lion's share of a 12-goal thriller against Cows with an 8-4 victory.

Callum Clarke picked up a hat-trick and this game saw the first use of the new rule with Bogies Explosion gaining a four-goal lead, meaning they automatically went down to 10 players.

The last game of the day was a spiteful affair between Storm and Bunyan. A Lewis Jobbling strike saw the youth, energy and talent of Storm take the lead and even when Bunyan got their first goal back, Storm held strong with some determined play.

Tier 2 of Milton Keynes Mixed Summer Hockey League pushed back last night with end-to-end action in both games.

Bogie Love against Saffers finished 2-2, while Thunderstorm were their usual flamboyant selves, showing lots of flicks and tricks and steam rolling to a 3-0 lead before Calves ended the game 3-2.

Verstappen is ready to fill Kvyat's boots in Barcelona

BY SCOTT KIRK

scott.kirk@onemk.co.uk

MAX Verstappen says he is excited at the prospect of making his Red Bull debut at the Spanish Grand Prix this weekend.

Daniil Kvyat was unceremoniously dropped to Red Bull's sister team Toro Rosso after he bumped into Ferrari's Sebastian Vettel twice at the Russian Grand Prix on May 1.

Two weeks before that he was on the receiving end of the former Red Bull World Champion's wrath after another incident he thought the Russian driver was at fault for.

Now though, Red Bull have Belgian Verstappen, 18, at the helm, and luckily for him he has his first race at a track where the Formula One teams do a lot of testing before the season begins, so Barcelona is a circuit he knows well.

Verstappen's promotion is an interesting one as he has impressed for Toro Rosso, and there were rumours that some of the big teams such as Ferrari were sniffing around his availability.

Therefore the reason for the driver change between him and Kvyat is probably as much a hands-off warning to the likes of those big teams, as much as anything negative Kvyat has done.

Indeed, the Russian driver as recently as a month ago achieved a podium for Red Bull, and he out-performed Daniel Ricciardo last season, so to say that his form has dropped would probably be a touch on the harsh side.

"I'm very excited for the opportunity to drive for Red Bull Racing and I can't wait to jump in the car in Barcelona," said Verstappen.

"I have a lot of work to do ahead of the race, lots of data to study but luckily it's a track I know well because we have driven there so much.

"The main straight is quite a long one, so you need a good top speed. For me the best parts of the track are Turn Three and Turn Nine, as they are both high-speed ones. The last sector is also interesting, as it's very technical and hard on tyres.

"The crowd is also one you always notice, with many Spanish fans showing their support and enjoying the racing!"

Ricciardo meanwhile is looking forward to the Spanish Grand Prix, which he says signals the start of the summer season of Formula One as it is the first event in Europe of the season.

"We usually go pretty well at the Circuit de Catalunya so I'm looking forward to it," said the Australian driver.

"I know the track well as we spend quite a lot of time there but there's always things to learn from the track though so I don't want to say I know it all, but having had a few races in the car it's about putting it all together and having a strong weekend."

Great Brickhill lose opening tie

GREAT Brickhill lost the first match of their Cherwell Cricket League season by just two wickets. They scored 237 in the first innings as Mark Nelson scored 75, but Horspath Seconds knocked off that target with two wickets to spare.

In Division Two, Wolverton Town lost to Great and Little Tew Seconds by three wickets.

In the Four Counties League, last season's title winners North Crawley beat their close rivals Milton Keynes by 26 runs. John Collings' 50 helped North Crawley to 154 in the first innings, but Robin Platten's four wickets helped dismiss Milton Keynes for 128 in reply.

Harry Singh's 73 helped New Bradwell beat Elstow by 109 runs.

New City (Milton Keynes) defeated Thurleigh by 63 runs as Manjit Singh claimed a three-wicket haul, while Olney Town lost to Eaton Bray by 66 runs.

Biddenham used 10 bowlers to try to get Aspley Guise out but the game ended in a draw.

In the Northamptonshire Cricket League, Stony Stratford lost by six wickets to Old Northamptonians.

MOTORSPORT

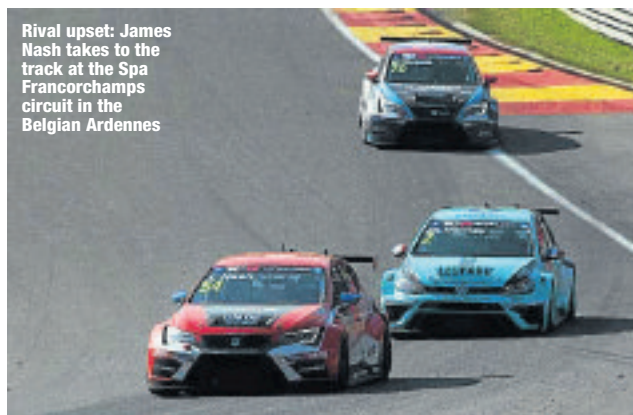

Nash unhappy after Vernay incident at Spa

NEWPORT Pagnell racer James Nash had to be satisfied with eighth and sixth in the two TCR International Series races held at the legendary Spa Francorchamps circuit in the Belgian Ardennes.

Starting from the third row for both races, Nash made reasonable starts to hold a good fourth place for most of the opening round and held fifth initially in the second before dropping back to sixth where he finished.

It was the opening race though that provided the main moment of controversy when with just two laps to go the much lighter (40kg) Volkswagen Golf of Frenchman Jean-Karl Vernay unceremoniously punted Nash's SEAT Leon off-track at the final corner. Vernay was immediately handed a 30-second time penalty by the race stewards for his misdemeanour though it did not help Nash, who had done well not to clatter the barriers.

Rival upset: James Nash takes to the track at the Spa Francorchamps circuit in the Belgian Ardennes

Nash was understandably unhappy about the incident.

He said: "Being pushed off track by a rival who took to foul means after running out of ideas to pass me fairly has to be unacceptable. That he did so in a car that is substantially lighter than mine added insult really."

From Nash's championship point of view, the bright spot was that neither of the races were won by a main rival for the title and after six of 22 races he retains second place in the standings, just two points shy of his teammate Pepe Oriola.

The next TCR International Series event takes place at Imola in Italy in two weeks.

Nash added: "I'm relieved and maybe a little surprised to still be holding a close second."

CMK Swim Club took 25 swimmers to the ASA South East Regional Champs in Portsmouth over the May Bank Holiday. Kayleigh Presswell took fifth in the hammer while Alice Ritchie ran 10th on her debut. Rebecca Hardy, Oli Lum and Devon Byrne also competed.

The Eastern Veterans track and field league opened at Sandy, Bedfordshire, with a close win for the MMKAC ladies but a very under-strength men's team struggled to third place. The East Midlands Road Running Grand Prix swung into action with the Silverstone 10km. From the huge field of almost 1,200 runners Mark Palser led home the 25-strong MMKAC contingent, 24th overall in 36.01.

Learning curve: Dons U15s played Barcelona U15s in what will be a great experience to learn from for the players and staff

Mighty Barcelona are beaten by Dons

BY SCOTT KIRK

scott.kirk@onemk.co.uk

THOUSANDS of people showed up at stadiummk on Sunday to watch MK Dons U15 take on Barcelona U15 and not only did they go toe to toe with the Catalan giants – they beat them 3-0.

There was a 10-minute delay to kick-off because of the sheer number of people coming into the stadium to enjoy the beautiful weather, with more than 4,000 watching the game.

Dons U15 captain Jack Hourican-Harvey said it was a great occasion for him and the team.

"As soon as we walked out and I saw 4,000 people I thought 'Blimey we're really doing this!' and I'm glad we won 3-0," he said.

"The most I've probably played in front of before is about 20 at Woughton so it was amazing.

"It just proves what we've got and the philosophy works.

"When we first found out we were playing Barcelona it was great but every week it was like 'Oh it's coming'.

"We stuck to what we do. I was a bit nervous but more excited than anything.

"It gets us used to that environment and the cheer of the crowd was great."

Lewis Higgs, lead academy coach for MK Dons, said that the experience was vital in developing the players.

"It shows that we can put on an event that brings some of the world's best academies to us so hopefully we can continue with that," he said.

"This is to make sure the boys understand what they could be playing in front of and we try to give them every experience we possibly can to go onto that next stage."

Fans thanked for staying for lap of honour as season ends

Applause: The end of season lap of honour from Dons players

MK DONS boss Karl Robinson thanked fans for staying for the club's lap of honour after the final game of the season against Nottingham Forest ended in a 2-1 defeat.

It has been a difficult season for Dons, who have been relegated to League One, but thousands of supporters stayed to the bitter end and Robinson said they would form a crucial part of his team talk next season.

"There were around 11,000 of our fans who turned up knowing we were relegated," said Robinson.

"About 80 or 90 per cent of them stayed and I said to the players that these are the people who we play for.

"These are the people who understand the consequences and reasons why we are what we are. These people will stick with us through thick and thin and we have to remember that lap of honour. We owe them big time next year."

Ben Reeves made his first appearance since March as he came on as a substitute in the second half on Saturday.

He has struggled with injury all season and Robinson thinks the midfielder will be like a new signing next season.
